36 Persons Are Killed in Midwest Air Crash

HUGE AIRLINER HITS RIVER BLUFF DURING STORM

No Survivors Found
In Wisconsin Tragedy;
Bodies Badly Mutilated

WINONA, Minn., Aug. 29 (AP)—Thirty-six persons were killed today when a Northwest airlines passenger plane crashed into a 500 foot Mississippi river bluff during a severe storm.

Walter Haussinger, Winona police radio dispatcher, said the 33 passengers and three crew members were dead.

Capt. Jack Volkel, a NWA pilot who lives in Winona and who was one of the first at the scene of the crash, said he thought lightning had struck the plane. He said it appeared the plane had broken up in the air.

The plane, a Martin 2-0-2, had left Chicago at 5:50 p. m. (Pottstown time) and was due in Minneapolis at 7:30 p. m.

The crash occurred on Sutters Ridge, between Winona and Fountain City, Wis., on the Wisconsin side of the Mississippi river.

Parts of the wreckage were found in swamplands along the river. A few bits also landed in a ball park at Winona, seven miles south of the crash.

HAUSSINGER, executive editor of the Winona Daily Herald, said he was among the first to reach the wreckage.

Volkel identified the plane as one of NWA's passenger fleet.

Closely said he counted ten dead in the plane. One was a woman still holding a baby in her arms.

The pilot, Capt. Robert Johnson of St. Paul, was still in the nose of the ship, Closely said.

"Bodies were scattered over a mile area," Closely said. "We didn't find all the bodies but I don't see how anyone could have lived through it."

"When we first heard of the crash, we started out to find the wreckage," Closely said. "We waded in water, went down along the Burlington railway, right-of-way and there found a piece of the wing."

A little beyond, we found a part of the tail. As we started climbing the bluff, we followed a flooded (Continued on Page Three)

Bike Violators (Both of Them) Get Fast Justice

The heat may have slowed down most things in Pottstown Saturday, but it sped up the justice bicycle court to such an extent that a full week's haul by the police department—two violators—was disposed of in 46 seconds flat.

The heat-struck court officials, including Chief of Police James A. Laughlin in a rolled-down collar, lost no time in preliminaries, starting promptly at 10 o'clock in the steamy council chambers.

At 10:04 a. m., Miss Barbara McMahon, who acted as girl judge, had finished sentencing the two violators to writing essays on bike safety.

THE ONLY PERSON connected with the court who was slowed down was one of three offenders from the previous week. He was not to hand with his essay when court opened.

Earl R. Strange, who directs the court, spared jurors and clerks the pain of sitting in the steam by adjourning court and waiting himself the tardy violator.

Firemen Help Youngsters Find a Way to Keep Cool

GALE REPORTED OFF FLA. COAST

Tropical Hurricane Gives Signs of Bearing Toward Land; Area Alerted

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 29 (AP)—A raging tropical hurricane with winds up to 120 miles per hour hovered some 300 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., tonight with just a hint that it is turning westward toward the mainland.

In an advisory issued at 5:30 p. m. (Pottstown time), the U. S. Storm Warning service said the hurricane, now spread over an area 140 miles in diameter, had made little forward progress in the past 12 hours "but what movement has occurred seems to be toward the west-northwest or westerly."

Caution, however, in predicting the course of the storm was included in the advisory. "The direction of movement is very uncertain as long as the hurricane is moving so slowly," it said.

The storm was pinpointed about 300 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla., and about the same distance south-east of Wilmington, N. C.

Along the coast, as far north as New Jersey, scores of persons were treated for injuries from high waves, some of them measuring as much as 14 feet. Some famous resort beaches have been ordered closed.

The weather bureau advised interests along the Southeastern Atlantic seaboard that if the storm begins its expected westward turn, the west they will begin to feel increasing winds and seas will become heavy by late Monday.

A precautionary alert was sounded for the area extending from the Carolinas south to Jacksonville, Fla.

Man, 67, Cutting Grass, Dies From Heart Attack

John M. Bernhard, 67-year-old steel-chipper at the Bethlehem Steel plant, died the past Saturday morning of a heart attack which struck while he was mowing his lawn.

Mr. Bernhard had been mowing grass for about half an hour in front of his home at West Rutledge street, Penn. Village, when he crumpled to the ground at 9:15 o'clock.

The first to see the victim was his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Stuffle, 1137 Center avenue, who hastily called a Good Will ambulance.

Meanwhile, an unidentified neighbor carried the stricken man into his home and laid him on the living room sofa.

AMBULANCE DRIVER William Tosto and "Tex" Dehaven, his assistant, applied a resuscitator to the victim, but when Dr. Abraham Bernstein arrived half an hour later, he pronounced him dead.

Mrs. Mary (Ellis) Bernhard, to whom Mr. Bernhard had been married for 47 years, said he had been known to have a heart condition since February, 1944, when he was struck down on West High street just outside his home by a hit-run driver.

The condition was discovered in the hospital where he recuperated from a compound fracture of the right leg. The heart ailment had become considerably worse in the past month, his son, John T. Phoenixville, said.

MR. BERNHARD WAS born on a farm in Sassamansville and lived there until his late teens. He was the son of the late John and Katie (Lachman) Bernhard.

YOUNG WOMAN HURT BY TRUCK

Miss Dorothy Foster Hit At Queen, Penn. Streets; Driver to Face Charge

Miss Dorothy Foster, 24, of 118 King street, was admitted to the Memorial hospital after she was struck by a truck at Queen and Penn. streets at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The driver, Elmer P. Shaner, of Spring City, Pa., will face a charge of reckless driving, police said last night. A hearing will await definite word on Miss Foster's condition.

Hospital authorities said she was conscious and that her condition was "not serious." X-rays will be examined today to determine the extent of possible internal injuries.

Shaner told police he was driving a truck of the New York Department store south on Penn street, when he turned around at Queen street.

As he backed up, Shaner said, the car hit Miss Foster, knocking her to the ground.

She was taken to the hospital in an ambulance of the Good Will Fire company.

Patrolman Robert Scheidt and Special Patrolman Andrew Kovach investigated the accident.

WILLIAM O. SIMCOX, 540 West Second street, Birdsboro, reported to police in borough hall Saturday an accident in which his automobile had been damaged Friday afternoon.

PARKS JAMMED AS MANY SEEK WEEKEND RELIEF

Temperature Rises to 95 On Saturday, Returns To 93 High for Sunday

Two more temperature records fell yesterday and Saturday as the worst heat wave in years scorched through its sixth day.

Saturday afternoon's top reading of 95 shattered the 41-year record for the day, 90, and yesterday's 93 topped the 92-degree mark for that day, set three years ago.

The weatherman has glimpsed hope, however. It will be a little cooler today, he predicted, but by tomorrow, Pottstown, should feel a cool air mass moving from Canada. Both days will be fair, he forecast.

As the relentless wave rolled on under almost cloudless skies, thousands took advantage of the weekend to head for cooler pastures.

PARKS IN THE AREA reported crowds were the biggest since the Fourth of July. Highways were jammed all weekend, with persons creating their own problems by traveling to parks or to the shore.

More than 20,000 packed into Montgomery county park yesterday, Otto Quinke, superintendent, said.

Between 4000 and 5000 picnicked and the remainder swam in the 38-acre lake, he related. They began arriving at 10 a. m. and did not leave until far after dark.

"The lake was so crowded you couldn't see the beach," he added. "People weren't swimming; they were just standing in the water."

At French creek State park and Hopewell National Historic site which adjoin across the Parks Chester county border, an estimated 2200 ate picnics, swam or climbed Hopewell mountain for the breeze.

The majority, 1500 swam or fished in 72-acre Hopewell lake and the two and a half acre dammed stream at Six-Pennies picnic area.

WITH ABOUT 500 staying all day, Daniel Boone Homestead, near Baumstown, had its biggest crowd since the Fourth. Picnic tables there can accommodate only 250. The lake covers three and a half acres.

A representative of the Reading railroad company said passenger traffic on the line was "poor for a weekend." He attributed the decline to general dislike of soot which covers passengers and sticks because of perspiration.

"They're waiting for next weekend, and then you'll see them go," he observed.

Garage, Store Burglaries Give Investigators Clues

The investigation of burglaries in Gilbertville and Boyertown early the past Saturday morning will move out of town today, it was announced by Paul Kleinspehn, private investigator working on the case with Boyertown and State police.

"We have two clues to go on," Kleinspehn declared.

Police officials seeking the men who forced open safes in the Gilbertville Motor company on Route 13, and in the LeFevre brothers department store in Boyertown, are Boyertown Police Chief Henry Groff, Montgomery County Detective George Murphy and Trooper Herbert L. Hoffman of the Collegeville State police sub-station.

Removed from the safe in the Gilbertville Motor company, owned and operated by Raymond K. Mench, Montgomery county commissioner, was $100 in cash.

The Boyertown department store operated by Aaron K. LeFevre and his son, Walter B. LeFevre, was robbed of $1009.97 in cash and three small unendorsed checks.

AT THE GILBERTVILLE garage the burglars used a hydraulic jack to topple the safe. An automobile tire, Kleinspehn said, apparently to cushion the fall and absorb some of the noise of the blows as the safe door was pounded.

Two sledge hammers were used to break the handles, dial and lock mechanism. The safe was set on a 2x4 in. which a hand would block in the garage had stopped.

Police believed that the shock of the falling safe made the clock stop.

A neighbor heard the blows, Kleinspehn reported, but the burglar was just making repairs in the shop.

"We climbed higher and there found three more bodies, all of them badly mutilated."

"A FARMER, William Pehler, said he and his son, Charles, were in their barn at 6:30 o'clock when they saw the plane flying east, apparently to get out of the storm."

"Pehler said he thought the ship was going to hit the barn, it was flying so low."

"It went over a rise and then Pehler said he and his son heard it crash into Sutters Ridge."

"We found the body of one woman whose clothes had been torn off and she was still clinging to a red purse."

Closely said that none of the bodies would be removed from the plane until after Coroner Herbert F. Stohr, Buffalo county coroner of Alma, Wis., had examined them.

The gunwale of a ship is so named because in old fighting ships the rails had to be strong to meet the movement of the old muzzle-loading cannon.

The New York police force is more than three times the whole population (5000) of Andorra, the tiny Republic in the Pyrenees between France and Spain.

The cash stolen was intended for a bank deposit scheduled Saturday. Nothing else in the store was disturbed.

Kleinspehn commented yesterday, "There is a possibility that both safes could have been forced by the same gang, but it also could have been two different groups."

Handless Artist Wins Praises

Born without hands or feet, 32-year-old Kathleen Hart of Byron, Ontario, Canada, took her first art lesson two years ago. Recently she opened a studio in Toronto, had an exhibition—32 still life and floral pictures. Critics who praised her work learned later of her handicap. Since then newspapers, magazines, medical journals have besieged Kathleen. She got artificial limbs at age 3.

or cards of congratulation from every church member.

Her favorite hymns—"Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown?" and "Abide With Me"—were also sung at the service.

SINCE SHE WAS the last charter member, Miss Shaner and fellow church members had hoped she would have been able to share in the 75th anniversary of the church to be celebrated in October.

Miss Shaner was born in Cedarville ten years before the Civil War began, a daughter of Christopher and Susan (Rader) Shaner.

She lived in Cedarville and Pottstown Landing until eight years ago when she moved with a niece, Mrs. Harmon Childs, to Pottstown.

Until recent years, her favorite hobby was intricate crochet work, at which she was skilled, since she had been a dressmaker in her younger years.

Her only survivors are nieces and nephews.

That is the best government which desires to make the people happy, and knows how to make them happy—Macaulay.

The Meaning of Berlin

The importance of Berlin to the Western allies cannot be judged purely on material grounds. We, and England, could administer our part of Germany from within our zone. It is possible that we would have been better off if we had never established headquarters in Berlin at all. It is certainly clear that we should have initially insisted on a supply corridor of our own, rather than trusting to generalized verbal agreements with Stalin.

But all that is water over the dam, and the unfortunate fact is that American prestige is inextricably tied in with the Berlin controversy. It is now a question of what the Chinese call "face."

On top of that, there is a vital question of moral obligation involved. Should Russia take over Berlin, thousands of prominent anti-Nazi and anti-communist Germans who have sided courageously with the Western world might be liquidated. At best, they would suffer severe privations. And that would certainly weaken the democratic spirit in the other European nations which are on our side.

So Berlin has become a symbol—a testing ground of the strength of two opposed theories of life and government. And that is why we have held firm, and are running the greatest risks in an attempt to hold our ground, and to induce Russia to live up to what we consider clear agreements made during and immediately after the war.

It is all a gamble, on both sides. We are gambling that the Russians do not want war and will decide to cooperate. Our diplomatic notes, though couched in strong terms, have been designed to give Russia a chance to pull back without sacrificing her own prestige.

The Russians are also gambling that the United States will not let matters reach the point where war is the only solution, and will either withdraw from Berlin, or, more likely, will agree to a new conference on the disposition of Germany on Soviet terms.

The high-American authorities, both in Berlin and Washington, have acted with calmness and restraint. General Clay has given no ground, but neither has he rattled the saber. Secretary Marshall has said again and again that U. S. policy is based on avoiding "the tragedy of war" with Russia. However, there is always the danger of some "incident" that will stir up great popular anger, lead to a further succession of incidents, and so make the chance of open hostilities imminent.

In that connection, there is one school of people who seem to feel that eventual war with Russia is inevitable, and that we should start it now while we have the A-bomb, and the Communists, presumably, have not.

Anyone who believes in this theory of so-called "preventive war" would do well to read an article in Harper's by Hanson W. Baldwin. Mr. Baldwin is military editor of the New York Times, and has written many books and innumerable brief pieces on military affairs.

In Mr. Baldwin's opinion, the money cost would be so great as to imperil our economic system and force repudiation of the national debt. In manpower, the casualties would be tremendous—and we have no reason to expect that our own civilian population would be safe from Russian attack with planes and missiles. Further, the very Europe we are trying to save would be lost.

In Mr. Baldwin's words, "the ideals and cultures of Western Civilization probably would be forever destroyed if war came before recovery from past illness was accomplished. Preventive war would, therefore, defeat our own purpose; we could conquer Russia, but you do not defeat ideologies by the sword."

Even if we were victorious, in sum, we would lose, and so would all the rest of the world. Each modern war has brought destruction on a scale far greater than its predecessors. No responsible authority believes that World War III would be any exception to this grim rule.

Under the best of conditions, a great many years will go by before the world can recover from the last war. Another, and greater war in the near future would produce consequences beyond the capacity of the human mind to anticipate.

PUNKIN CORNERS,

Dear Sir 'n' Brother:
August 29.

Wal, I see by the papers where Americans smoked 345,000,000,000 (that's billions) cigarettes during the past year. No wonder so many of my pals seem to be walking around in a fog!

To tobacco companies, the present demand for fags must seem simply puffed!

Which goes to show that the luxury industry is one of our biggest. That's gold in them thar hills!

And say: Montreal, Can., reports a series of butter burglaries. Another yellow peril? Hopin' you air the same.

Pottstown Needs More Builders Like Mr. Zern

Fills Public Demand

To the Editor: Now that Mr. Zern has shown the way, maybe some of our other builders in town will get around to putting a product on the market that meets the demand.

Some of these small fry contractors have been trying to pass off homes priced at $10,000 and over onto a home-hungry public. Then along comes Mr. Zern with a proposition on a rental-purchase basis!

Maybe Mr. Zern is just too big a builder for the other contractors to compete with. But it seems that he's going into mass production of homes—which is what this town needs—on a smaller margin of profit. He's giving home hunters what they want at the price they want to pay.

I think we would get more homes in shorter time if they kicked all of these small fry builders off the housing committee and let Mr. Zern take over. He speaks the language a lot of us folks living with our in-laws like to hear.

To the Editor: I've been an impartial observer in this competition for the police sergency.

I don't know any of the policemen involved. In fact, the only time I met any Pottstown policemen was when I walked up to my car as one was writing out a ticket, and I don't know his name.

From the information I have accumulated from The Mercury, the civil service commission is trying to be fair in this matter. Its examination found Policeman Bridgman best qualified.

I feel so strongly about this that I

WASHINGTON

Federal Workers Shying From Campaign Duties

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 — The most startling evidence of President Truman's prospective defeat next November consists in the wholesale effort of once prominent and loyal Democratic officeholders at Washington and elsewhere to forswear allegiance to the Administration and to "go underground" so that they will not be fired when Gov. Thomas E. Dewey enters the White House next January.

It has been the custom for bureau heads and their technical experts to write speeches for Democratic spokesmen in a presidential election year, to help in the preparation of campaign booklets and to deliver pep talks before small but influential groups inside and outside the government.

It was a sort of extra-curricular activity which they were always glad to perform during the Roosevelt regime, knowing that they would obtain a higher grading or a step-up in salary as a reward for their partisan performances.

During the politicking months of September and October, these technicians and publicists worked for the White House candidate instead of for Uncle Sam, although their salaries were paid by the taxpayers. It is an advantage which the "ins" always enjoy over the "outs" because of their possession of Federal files and the pressure which they can exert on frightened employees.

DIFFERENT: It is different this year, however, simply because these hired hands suspect that retention of their jobs will depend on the good will of Dewey-Warren distributors of patronage. They do not want to be identified too prominently with the Truman Administration for fear that their heads will roll in the political gutters next year.

When a White House Secretary or cabinet member asks even a minor employe to write a political speech, prepare material for a Truman-Barkley pamphlet or to render any service of a partisan nature, the boys and girls down below point out that they are debarred from such work because of their Civil Service classification.

To engage in promotion for any political group, they note, would be a violation of the law.

PROPHETIC: Numerous fairly high-ranking officials have refused offers of promotion, or have asked for demotion to a comparatively minor job, even though it carries less pay. They apparently figure that they are less likely to walk a Republican plank as privates in the anonymous army of Federal employes than as front-line officers.

This development is regarded as extremely prophetic and significant, for it is to the advantage of these thousands of Federal servants to know where their bread is buttered. As of the moment, they seem to feel that there will be no bread for them, not to mention butter, unless they climb aboard the GOP's chuck wagon.

TEST: While politicians are preparing for the November battle, another less significant but more nourishing contest will soon engage the attention of both Republican and Democratic dualists. Va., have challenged smoked turkey manufacturers of Tennessee and Texas to a states' test as to which turns out the most succulent dish. The Rockingham people in the Old Dominion note that Virginia produced Sam Houston, founder of the Texas Republic, as well as Stephen F. Austin, for whom the Lone Star State's capital is named. They insist that their turkeys are of equal stature.

A dinner has been arranged for after the election at which Congressmen and Cabinet members from these states will serve as judges.

His Angle on Row Homes

To the Editor: This residential zoning against row homes is a lot of hookum to me.

When new, single homes are built in one section of town, their occupants yell to high Heaven when someone talks about building double or row houses in the same neighborhood.

In the Eighth ward, where there are plenty of row houses, a builder puts up some single homes in the same neighborhood, right next to the row houses, and sells them to the same type of individual who wouldn't ordinarily tolerate having a row house built alongside of his.

It all depends who gets there first.

Too many censorship problems on the film version of "Born Yesterday" (the best lines are so pitiful they'll have to be clipped) plus the fact that Jimmy Cagney won't play the leading male role, may cause a long delay in the shooting.

CO. A RETURNING — Company A, 6th regiment, is returning soon from the Spanish American war service and a reception is being arranged by local citizens headed by Gen. William Mintzer. Burgess Reuben Davidheiser has called a meeting to make plans for the event.

BIKE TRIP — Members of the Pottstown Wheelmen club and the Stowe club rode on bicycles to the Douglassville hotel where a banquet was served by Hest Dry. Hiram Frederick was bugler and Dr. Harry Mauger the color bearer on the trip.

CHEAP FARMS — Prices of farms are low. In nearby Lehigh county, a 38-acre farm well tilled and with farm buildings was sold for $805. In Berks county, some farms are being bought by paying delinquent taxes.

TOO MANY people repose an unwarranted trust in college courses and theory. Books and classroom lectures may help you organize a better speech, but you can never become a successful orator until you have faced hundreds of audiences.

Howard's trouble is partly his belief that salesmanship is a learned trade. I go to you to see if I am in the right line of work.

THE sales field has too long been the waste basket for failures in other lines of work, which is one reason why it is cluttered with inefficient men.

In the life insurance profession, for example, about 25% of the salesmen are disposing of approximately 75% of the policies, and this trend is typical in other fields.

A good salesman is not "born" but is made by diligent study and practice. It also requires years for a brilliant surgeon or dentist to be trained.

All beginners undergo the stage fright and "cold sweat" ordeal until they ultimately build up habits of self-assurance.

Normally it is very difficult for a new salesman of high priced goods to make a quick success.

There are so many excellent competitors in every commercial line, that success is ultimately based on personality and the personal popularity or friendship clientele that a salesman may develop over several years of calling on prospects.

It likewise takes years for a dentist or physician to build such a personal following. So it may require several years before even a good salesman can build up a similarly profitable clientele.

Consequently, a salesman should compare himself to the young lawyer or doctor starting into practice, and think in terms of several years before he expects a big clientele.

"Salesmen are the real sparkplugs of civilization," wisely declared the late Dr. Glenn Frank, and I agree with him.

town who loiter, not even a 'teeny-weensy little loiter. You meet the same girls on High street dozens of times a week, but they are in too much of a hurry even to nod. You sit alongside the same girls in a drugstore fountain every day almost, and even before you can say something about the weather, they have gulped their coke and gone.

What is the matter with Pottstown's young girls today? Why don't they loiter? Pottstown A. M. C.

A Boy Says 'Thank You'

To the Editor: A boy who lives not too far from us came up to me the other day and said, "Say, Mister — if you see any of those Spicer men will you thank them again for me for the swell time I had at camp."

This, to me, was the finest testimonial the Pottstown Community camp could have received.

I haven't seen "any of those Spicer men" since this incident occurred, so I hope you'll pass along this boy's thanks through your Readers Say column.

Rent Question Still Moot

To the Editor: I read in The Mercury that Mr. Hiss said he sublet an apartment to a man he knew as Croseley. Croseley didn't pay the rent and they parted "not on very pleasant terms."

This would indicate that Croseley had the true Communist spirit and that Hiss was a capitalist at heart. It ought to settle everything—except the rent. Or does it? A Communist's idea of "share the wealth" is always the other fellow's wealth.

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29 — Cheer up, kids—or break down—depending on how you look at it. Because "Nature Boy"—meaning Eden Abez, is still much with us and will continue to be. Abez will have his own radio show this Fall, a five-minute, five-days-a-week job.

It will incorporate his music with his own talks on health and philosophy. At the moment, Nature Boy himself has joined the fruit and vegetable pickers in northern California. For the first time since her appearance in "The Best Years of Our Lives," Gladys George that swaglant character actress, is returning to the screen.

Director Mike Curtis had "it" handed her a top role in "Plamingo" with Joan Crawford, Zachary Scott and other shining lights. Betty Toddhunter has caught the eye and ears of Cy Willis who used to be the spouse of Joan Davis.

ORSON WELLES showed up in Paris and got very chummy with Rita Hayworth and Ali Kahn, but didn't get anything out of the "visit" except publicity. Fifty-two television programs are being made for the United States of the openings of the Paris dressmakers. Hear nice things about the work of Columbia's Stephen Dunne, a contender among the tough-but-good-looking lads in "The Law of the Barbary Coast" ... It's had enough when some one hits you over the head with a truck or something — but producer Jerry Wald opened his bath-cabinet door with a wild flourish yesterday, hit himself madly in the face, knocked out a front tooth, wound up with a very swollen pharynx and a lot of chagrin. Lady Sylvia Ashley Fairbanks Stanley should be announcing her engagement to Bob Sweeney any minute ...

WE DOUBT whether this will make you swoon, but the beauty queen of Pasadena this year will wear a bathing suit made entirely of rose petals. ... Rita Hayworth were happy to report at the Vet's hospital around here and beginning this week, she and her entertainers will to a weekly show at the various rehabilitation centers. In her group are comic Frankie Hyers, Estelle Taylor, starlet Mary Ainslee, Mabel Todd and Marc Lawrence.

IF ROY CALHOUN was flustered while feasting with his fiancée, Lita Baron (nee Isabella) at the Brown County last night, he didn't show it. In an opposite booth, and staring him right in the eye were his two most recent flames, Corinne Calvet and Vera Ellen. Wish we could have heard THEIR conversation ... and speaking of conversation ... Lana Turner evidently isn't the only Hollywood star to have had a run-in with the British press. Spencer Tracy is back here now after completing "Edward, My Son" in London with Deborah Kerr—but before he left there he spoke his mind to the English pen-pushers — and gave them a lot more than usual two-cents worth!

LEGION CONCLAVE — The State convention of the American Legion is being held at Reading. Delegates from Amole Post are Dr. D. L. R. Signor and Paul Keiser. Alternates are Commander James V. Gleason and David Kessler.

KIWANIS MEETS — Pottstown Kiwanis club met at the Douglassville hotel with President S. Edwin Trout presiding. Singing was directed by Dr. David Cooley with Frank Royer at the piano.

How's Your Mind?

THE ANSWER, QUICK!

1. What two meanings has the word "maroon?"
2. Which of these "musical instruments are wood-winds of oboe, cornet, double bass, viola, clarinet?"
3. Can you finish this quotation — "None but the brave—"
4. What is a "talon fastener?"
5. About how long did it take Solomon to build his temple?

JOBS UPON A TIME

Francis B. Sayre, representative of the United States Trusteeship Council of the United Nations by appointment of President Truman, was born in South Bethlehem, Pa. Sayre finished Williams college and Harvard law school, and became deputy district attorney for New York county in 1913, the year he married Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of President Woodrow Wilson, in the White House. Mrs. Sayre died in 1933. In 1939 President Roosevelt appointed him high commissioner of the Philippines. In 1944 Sayre became diplomatic adviser to UNRRA.

A job as cub reporter on an Indianapolis paper started Edwin C. Hill, noted newspaper man and radio commentator, on his upward climb. Hill went to New York and got a newspaper job in 1904, held it until 1923, when he took a whirl at the movies as newsreel director, scenario writer and supervisor. Hill became leading writer for King Features Syndicate, his column headed The Human Side of the News, the same as he uses in his five-a-week broadcasts. Hill's first radio appearance came in 1931. He is the author of several books.

MODERN MANNERS

Because a man's man is no reason why he should not write a thank you letter to his hostess after a visit. He should write it as soon as possible after his return home.

IT HAPPENED TODAY

On August 30, 1945, Gen. Douglas MacArthur landed in Japan. On the same date, in 1781, a French fleet arrived in Chesapeake Bay to further the interest of American independence.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Motion Picture Stars Joan Blondell, Fred MacMurray and Raymond Massey are due to receive natal day greetings on Aug. 30.

2. The oboe and clarinet.
3. "Deserve the fair"
4. A zipper.

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Let's Talk of Cheese... The Many Kinds...

CHEESES — Let's talk cheese today. Not your mother-in-law, the big cheese! But the cheese you eat at picnics and at the dinner table. There's a dozen or more at your favorite cheese counter. How many do you know, and what are they? Look 'em over: ...

BRICK — An American product, originated in the 19th century. Brick cheese is semi-hard, ranging from mild to quite sharp in flavor, and has many small round holes or eyes. It's called brick because it is brick-shaped, and bricks were once used on the cheese presses during manufacture.

CHEDDAR — The best known and most widely used of all cheese families. It's often called "American" cheese, although it originated in the village of Cheddar, Somersetshire, England as long ago as 1695. In natural form, cheddar is made in various shapes and sizes known as: Daisies, Longhorns, Americas, Twins, Flats and Blocks. Natural cheddar without rind is made in block form, and is cured in its own transparent wrapper. Cheddar is hard, firm-textured, mild to very sharp. Much of the cheddar cheese used is process cheese.

PROCESS — A great American manufacturing triumph, marketed first in 1920. Process cheese is made by blending selected natural cheeses, by exact formula, to produce uniformity of flavor and texture. It comes in many package sizes and varieties — Cheddar, Swiss, Brick, Limburger and others. Process cheese is the most widely known and used of all forms in which cheese is sold.

COTTAGE — Almost as familiar as bread on American tables — served by itself, as a spread for bread, with salads and salad plates. You know it — smooth, creamy, mild flavored. In the Pennsylvania Dutch area, in combination with applebutter, it's a delicacy!

CREAM — Another table favorite, made of pasteurized milk and cream. It's smooth, soft and sweet, and is used in countless ways — salads, desserts, sandwiches, as a spread and as an appetizer.

EDAM — Growing in popularity. It's hard, round and red coated, mild in flavor. Edam originated in the Netherlands, but is made here, too. Edam is generally served as a dessert cheese with the top cut from the round, and the center hollowed out with a cheese scoop.

CAMEMBERT — More and more people are using this cheese for a dessert cheese. Napoleon discovered it, and loved it so much he had a statue erected of the dairymaid who originated it. That was back in 1791 in France.

ROQUEFORT — Wonderful in salad dressings. Roquefort was known in France as early as 1050. It is called King of Cheeses, and is perhaps the best known of the dessert cheeses. It's creamy white, and blue veined. It is the only world-famous cheese made of sheep's milk.

GOUDA — Is another round, red-coated cheese, which originated in the Netherlands. It looks like an Edam, but is smaller, and slightly flat on top and bottom. It's mild, good tasting, and fine for desserts.

GORGONZOLA — A cheese of Italian origin — blue-veined and semi-hard, similar to Roquefort and Blue. Made now in

Transfiguration Lutheran Church Is Setting For Lovely Kirby-Schwoyer Wedding Rites

Beautiful in every respect was the wedding yesterday of Miss Roxanne Lefa Schwoyer, 776 Queen street and Mr. Robert Davenport Kirby Jr. solemnized in Transfiguration Lutheran church against a background of lovely pink and white gladiolas and palms.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Schwoyer; Mr. and Mrs. John Kirby are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Howard Kosman, pastor of Zion's Reformed church, officiated at the double ring ceremony which took place at 2 o'clock in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

Preceding the appearance of the wedding party was an organ recital by Mrs. Hazel Rutter with vocal presentations by Mrs. Charles Schwoyer, mother of the bride.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride was charmingly radiant in a gown of white tulle and tulle with heart-shaped neckline on the long fitted torso bodice. With the tiny cap sleeves, she chose long matching gauntlets tapering to a point above each wrist. The full ballerina skirt flowed into a soft circular train.

From a white beaded tiara fell her lace bordered net veil of fingertip length and she carried a formal bouquet of Madonna lilies.

Attending as her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Elise Schwoyer, while her bridesmaids were Miss Janet Nagle and Mrs. Lloyd Sassaman.

ALL WERE GOWNED in white marquisette with a bateau neckline on the snugly-fitted bodice which was attached to a very full skirt. The skirt was designed of tier upon tier of tiny ruffles from the waistline to the bottom. With this they wore large white horsehair hats and blue sashes at the waistline. All carried old-fashioned bouquets of tiny pink and white roses from which fell a shower of light blue streamers matching the sashes of the gowns.

The brother of the bride, Mr. Grier Schwoyer, attended the bridegroom as best man, while the ushers were the Messrs. William McDevitt and Charles McCarthy.

THE MOTHER of the bride, Mrs. Schwoyer, appeared in a black chiffon frock with satin piping, black mits and black and white bonnet. Mrs. Kirby, mother of the bridegroom, chose a steel grey satin dress with black accessories. Both wore corsages of natural orchids.

The wedding supper followed in the Singer auditorium with immediate relatives and close friends attending. Later the couple started their wedding trip to the shore from which they will return in week to reside at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirby are graduates of Pottstown High school and Mrs. Kirby formerly was employed at the Bell Telephone company in Williamsburg, Va., and later in Pottstown. Mr. Kirby is attending Philadelphia Optical Institute.

Miss Nan Steinruck Is Summer Bride of D. E. Diffenderfer

A lovely late Summer wedding was performed Saturday morning at 11 o'clock when Miss Camellia Nan Steinruck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Steinruck, Parkersford, and Douglas Eugene Diffenderfer, son of Mrs. J. B. Custer, Pottstown Landing, in Parkersford Brethren church.

Long white gladiolas and chrysanthemums surrounded by palms, formed the background for the ceremony which was witnessed by over 200 guests and officiated by the Rev. Alvin S. Alderfer. Presenting vocal selections while Miss Florence Erb presided at the organ.

The bride was lovely in a low neckline traditional gown of white satin. The inset sleeves were part of the rounded yoke and puffed at the top of the snugly fitted bodice. The gently flared skirt at the hips increased in fullness to swirl out at the bottom back forming the long circular train. Every here and there it was picked up by a gay satin bow to reveal beneath deep ruffles of satin.

From a beaded Dutch cap fell her scalloped imported net veil of chapel length. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of gardenias and stonopitis and she was given in marriage by her father.

Orchid Ann, twin sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor, in a gown similar in style to that of the bride, wearing a Dutch cap without veil as her headpiece. Her old fashioned bouquet was of gardenias.

Little Betty Lou Fryer, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enos Fryer, attended in a white silk gown with Dutch cap headpiece, carried a pretty white basket and scattered rose petals before the bride as she approached the altar. In a white linen suit, tiny Rodney O'Donnell, cousin of the bride, wore the rings to the altar on a white heart shaped pillow.

Mr. Harold Diffenderfer, brother of the bridegroom, attended as best man while the ushers were the Messrs. Charles Buchwald, Philadelphia, and Charles Flickinger, Pottstown.

Mrs. Steinruck, mother of the bride, was attired in a cocoa colored gown with pink accessories and a pink rose corsage, while Mrs. Custer, mother of the bridegroom, chose a gown of blue crepe with white accessories and corsage of white roses.

In the church, following the wedding, a reception and luncheon was held after which the couple left for a honeymoon through Canada and the North Michigan Peninsula. Upon their return they will be at home in Kutztown.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

Make Him Read Wrong. MANY A contract depends upon one side making the other have a wrong reading of the cards. This is the declarer to fool the defense through "defenders' tactics to mislead the declarer. The reason is that a defender often is afraid of the damage that might come from misguiding his partner, whereas it does a declarer no harm to horn-swaggle the dummy. But sometimes the partner on the defense manages to barometer the declarer through either a play or a bid or a combination of them.

After the South saw the necessity of winning a trick in the dummy so he could use the spade A for a club discard and then try the diamond finesse. His chance to do that apparently lay in finding the heart K in the West or having that card be a singleton. So he laid down the heart A and then led the 2. If West had played low, the J would have been put in. West, however, came in with the K and then led the club Q. Right there came the crisis of the deal. If the dummy covered with the K, the contract would have been home, since the A would win that West in with the J. But South decided that West probably had three clubs and East the A either as a singleton or in a doubleton. He therefore played low from dummy, hoping the A would have to play the next time. When the J was now led, he ducked again in dummy, trusting that the A would play. When it did he was overjoyed.

But his pleasure was short-lived. East had played the A voluntarily, not compulsorily, as South learned when the 8 was then returned. West ruffing for the setting trick. Note that the defense caused South to read East as more likely to be short in clubs than West, since East's first bid of spades had shown length there. Also note that the defenders had several chances for mistakes—by playing low on the second heart lead, by East letting the club J win or by East not returning the third club.

Four Youths Escape Serious Injury as Jeep Overturns

Four youths escaped with minor injuries when the jeep in which they were riding turned turtle after it skidded into a new sedan going the opposite direction on upper eighth limits, yesterday morning shortly after 1 o'clock.

According to police, the jeep, going north on the Lewis road, skidded into a car owned by Otto H. Moyer, Royersford justice of the peace, and driven by Lee H. Woodling, 519 Main street, going south.

Neither Moyer nor Woodling were injured, but the new sedan was damaged to the extent of approximately $500, with the entire one side bashed in.

The jeep, police said, was driven by Kenneth Manger, 16, of Walnut street, Pottstown. Passengers included Jack Nash and Jacob March, 26 High street, reportedly co-owners, and another youth whose name could not be immediately learned. All are from Pottstown.

They were taken to the office of Dr. R. K. Glocker, Royersford, where they were treated for minor bruises.

It was claimed after the jeep skidded into Moyer's sedan, it turned over on its top and stopped against the rear of a truck owned by George E. Long, 480 Penn street, Spring City, which was parked along the highway. The left front wheel of the jeep was broken off when it collided with the sedan.

Two of the youths were pinned under the overturned jeep, it was reported, while one was tossed into the rear of the parked truck and another jumped out of the jeep into a cornfield.

Bryson M. Turner, Royersford police chief, was summoned, but turned the investigation over to State police because the accident occurred out of the borough. Troopers Edward Bonk and Raymond Miller investigated.

The accident occurred near the properties of Clarence Missimer and Howard Bearde.

'Ford Coach Speaks At Youth Service

"Quest for the Best" was the theme of a youth service conducted by the young people of Royersford Grace Lutheran church, in that edifice last night.

Robert McNelly, high school athletic coach, guest speaker, gave a brief address in which he urged the group to develop themselves mentally, physically and spiritually, and at the same time to gain self confidence and self reliance.

The service was in charge of Miss Ruth Hoffman, president of the Luther league. The Scripture lessons were read by Miss Jane Rogers and Elwood Place.

Miss Jeanne Koch was at the console of the pipe organ. Miss Elva Place sang two solos and Miss Nancy Henry read a poem, "Is Life Worth Living."

At the close of the service the Rev. Paul J. Henry, pastor, administered the Holy Communion to upward of 30 young people.

The service was arranged primarily for the spiritual uplift of the young people before they return to their studies at college.

75 Persons Attend Major Family Reunion

The day was passed in a social time, together with contests and sports for all ages.

Because of the death of the former president, the late Llewellyn Major, Irvin Major and Albert Major were elected president and vice-president, respectively. Others officers are: Mrs. William Barlow, secretary; Mrs. Ida Benner, treasurer and Mrs. Marion Swartley, historian.

Four new members were added, Virginia Pearl Hammel, Cora Joan Swartley, Linda Sue Swenson and Harold Allen Major Jr.

Farmer Has Trouble Giving Away Cabbage

NANTICOKE, Aug. 29 (P) — Farmer Henry Bobbin has found there are some things you can't even give away — cabbage, for instance.

He had 40,000 heads — four truckloads — of surplus cabbage, moved it into a nearby park and advertised in newspapers he would give it away to anyone who came.

Only a few people showed up to take about 500 heads.

"It's pretty tough when you can't even give things away," Bobbin said sadly.

Vacationing Mercury Readers

By THE VACATION EDITOR of The Mercury

Ferretting people out of their homes, the current heat wave accounted for a mass migration to local bathing spots over the weekend which produced an astounding array of characters and bathing suits.
